MONTANA NURSERY & LANDSCAPE ASSOCIATION CERTIFIES LOCAL INDUSTRY PROFESSIONAL

BIGFORK, MT, March 1, 2010 — Horticulture professional Brandt Thompson from Glacier Nursery, Inc. in Kalispell, Montana has passed the complex Montana Nursery & Landscape Association Certified Plant Professional (CPP) examination and has received his CPP certification.

The exam tests participants' knowledge and recognition of plants and includes two parts — an actual plant identification exam and a written exam that tests participants' knowledge of general horticultural practices. While most of the plant material used in the exam is relatively common to our state, the test includes an extensive variety of plants, as well as some materials less common to our region. Since the CPP Certification Program was introduced in our state by the Montana Nursery & Landscape Association nearly ten years ago, it has gained a reputation among nursery professionals for being a very tough exam. Achievement of the coveted "CPP" initials after one's name carries a great deal of prestige. The most recent exam was given in Helena on January 6th in Missoula as part of MNLA's annual Montana Green Expo.
